The first regiment of the Guards were drawn up in front of the castle to witness the ceremony. At 8:30 the emperor set out for the parade ground to review the German-American veterans. The weather was beautiful and the city had put on its gayest attire. Large crowds thronged the streets, which were most elaborately decorated with flags and bunting. Leading manufacturers and merchants had vied with each other in contributing to the brilliancy of the display. All public buildings in the city were decked in the most elaborate manner. The decorations of Unter den Linden and Friedrichstrasse were especially profuse. The Brandenburg gate was covered with laurel wreaths, hanging from which were streamers of dark crimson velvet bearing the inscription in gold letters: "How Events Have Shaped Themselves Under God's Guidance."

Among the especially magnificent decorations were those of the column of Victory and the monument of Frederick the Great.

CARNEGIE ON THE IRISH QUESTION.

Gives His Views in a Long Letter to the London Times.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—In a long letter from Mr. Andrew Carnegie which is published in the London Times today, Mr. Carnegie urges that the paper exert its influence to bring about a pacific solution of the Irish question. Such a course, Mr. Carnegie says, would probably command support in Canada, Australia and all the large cities populated by our race abroad. Mr. Carnegie then says that the language of the call for a convention of Irish-Americans at Chicago shows the despair and disappointment of men whose in the advent of the Conservative party of Great Britain to power no hope for justice for Ireland. The letter then gives Mr. Carnegie's views in favor of home rule at considerable length, and concludes with saying: "The question is not only a British one, but unfortunately an American one as well, casting its baneful influence over our politics."

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—John Rice Chandler, the correspondent of the Associated Press in Guatemala, arrived direct from that country today, and he was requested to make a full and frank statement of the situation in Central America, now that he is on American soil. He says: "It is generally supposed that these republics are continually on the verge of a revolution. In truth, four out of the five republics are today apparently quiet. The fifth, Salvador, has had riots recently. One of the vital questions in Central America today is naturally the Monroe doctrine and the course the American government may pursue in adopting it. The Central American governments firmly believe that no other nation but the United States can and should build the Nicaragua canal, and that the $100,000,000 which it may cost will be amply paid for by the obtaining of a majority of the South American commerce."

COMING CONFLICT OVER COREA.

Controversy Between Japan and Russia Will End in War.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Chester Holcomb, who has just returned from China after 21 years service in the American legation at Peking, says the recent massacre is traceable to the result of the recent China-Japan war. Mr. Holcomb says that the most interesting subject in the orient outside of the missionary trouble is the coming conflict between Russia and Japan. "That Japan and Russia are engaged in a controversy which will end in war goes without saying," he said, "and the opening of hostilities is not far off. Russia will yet so aggravate the Japanese that they will declare war. Then Russia will attempt to drive the Japanese out of Corea, where they are now masters of the situation. The fight between Russia and Japan will be over Corea, and it will come just as soon as Russia finds that she wants the opportunity."

Mr. Holcomb left for Washington tonight.

If God so willed it, he said, the army would again, as it was a quarter of a century ago, be prepared to wage war unto the last breath in a combat of life and death against any who dared lay hands upon the most sacred possessions of the fatherland.
